Why Travel With The New York Times

Times Journeys creates bespoke itineraries traveling to destinations that tell a story, accompanied by experts on the subject matter. That is why we invite our journalists to join you and handpick other experts so they can help you discover more.

Small group tours or cruises
From our collection of land-based journeys, limited to no more than 26 guests, to our specialist sailings on world-renowned cruise lines, you’ll travel with like-minded individuals.

EVERY DEPARTURE INCLUDES
Times-selected experts
A journalist or subject-matter specialist joins every departure, from Pulitzer Prize winners to Times Science reporters. Enjoy a mix of lectures, Q&As and informal conversations during meals.

Destinations that tell a story
Visit locations as diverse as Morocco and Iceland, exploring everything from their politics and history to their cultures and natural wonders.

Exclusive access
Escape the crowds with after-hours entrance and access to attractions normally closed to the public.

OTHER WAYS TO TRAVEL WITH TIMES JOURNEYS
City Tours
Spice up your vacation on a Times Journeys city tour, complete with exclusive experiences inspired by articles from The New York Times.

Private Departures
A limited number of Times Journeys tours are available on demand. Name a departure date and size of group and go when you want.

Weekends
Whether you’re an experienced globe-trotter or aspiring wanderer, take a two-day tour that combines panel discussions and talks by Times experts with interactive experiences in the field.

HISTORY
Travel has always been an important aspect of the newspaper, and one look into the archives clearly portrays this. As early as 1852, travel articles were already being published. A dedicated Travel section didn’t fully emerge until 1923, however, under the guidance of Lester Markel, the man behind the Sunday editions from 1923 to 1964.

TODAY
The Times still regards the Travel section as a pivotal part of the publication. A natural progression in our approach to travel is integrating hard-hitting world news with compelling journeys that delve into such topics as the cuisine of China or the history of Morocco, to bring the world closer to you — Times readers and those with similar values.
City Tours

Spice up your vacation and go deep into the city you’re visiting with walking tours inspired by The New York Times, including its 36 Hours feature. Interact with locals, get hands-on experience, and enjoy exclusive access to places with a local guide. With stops that take you off the beaten path, the local expertise of Urban Adventures and quality curation by The New York Times, these half-day or full-day tours allow you to immerse yourself in the sights, sounds and tastes you might otherwise miss.

The City Tour Experience
- Behind-the-scenes access
- Meetings with locals
- Hands-on learning
- Local food and drinks
- Transportation
Maybe your local science club wants to travel to the Galápagos, or you’re planning a family vacation to Provence. Whatever your needs, these Private Departures are Times Journeys in nearly all respects, with the same comfortable accommodations, meals and insight from local, on-the-ground guides (we just can’t promise the Times-selected expert).

Private Departures

- Departure dates to suit your needs
- The same educational focus as Times Journeys
- Offer the same high standards as all Times Journeys
- Provide flexibility for your group
- These trips are perfect for groups of six or more; if yours is smaller, call us and we’ll try to arrange something for you.
- To find out if your preferred tour is offered as a Private Departure, look for the blue note in the trip information and then call our reservations team at 855 399 6677.

Weekends

Whether you’re an experienced globe-trotter or aspiring wanderer, take a short tour to up your game on topics from photography and food to climate change and the environment. Discussions by Times experts help you tap into recent developments in the field, and hands-on lessons and local interactions help you travel smarter. Enjoy a weekend getaway or a staycation in your own city, and emerge a better explorer.

The Weekend Experience

- Two to three days, the perfect short getaway or addition to your planned travels
- A mix of plenary-style panel discussions, lectures and social events with Times experts
- Meetings with locals
- Small group interactive experiences in addition to larger-group discussions

Private departures available
When you travel with Times Journeys, you will be in good company: not only will you be traveling with like-minded individuals but with New York Times journalists and Times-selected experts, too.

Unless stated otherwise our experts travel with the group for the entire journey. In addition to formal talks and Q&A sessions, your experts are usually available at meals and during the tour for casual, more intimate chats.

Depending on the tour, expect to be joined by experts in history, world affairs, politics and the arts. Your Times Journeys experts are so much more than ordinary tour guides: They are there to give you the kind of perspective you’ve come to expect from The New York Times.

Here are just a few of the experts confirmed for our 2019 programs.

Looted Art: The History of World War II Plunder in France

During World War II, German forces operated a vast system to seize Jewish art collections and other works essentially from private owners in occupied France. Spend six days in Paris exploring the systematic plunder of art that offers a universal lesson today about international conflicts. With a New York Times expert, hear the stories these looted works have to tell.

Journey Highlights

- Tour the sumptuous Musée Nissim de Camondo mansion and unlock the secrets of a looted Renoir painting that hung there.
- Discover the dark history of the fabled Hôtel Drouot auction house.
- Take a private cruise on the River Oise and explore the Museum Pissarro with an expert guide.
- In a visit to the Jeu de Paume, trace the footsteps of Rose Valland, the French heroine and spy who saved some of the country’s art heritage during the Nazi occupation.
- Learn about cultural life in occupied Paris during a walking tour of the Left Bank and lunch at the historic Hôtel Lutetia.

Arctic Adventure: An Exploration of Canada’s North

This itinerary was developed in partnership with Times Journeys and Canada Keep Exploring.

Experience Churchill, Manitoba, along the shores of Canada’s majestic Hudson Bay, the polar bear capital of the world, on this active eight-day journey. See wildlife up close (depending on the animals, of course), including migrating beluga whales, Arctic foxes, seals and polar bears. Discover Churchill’s 3,000 years of indigenous and European history.

Journey Highlights

- Voyage to one of the more remote polar bear viewing areas in the world along the western Hudson to observe polar bears in their summer environment.
- Embark on a shoreline expedition to watch hundreds of Beluga whales as they surface just meters away.
- Participate in a dog-cart excursion led by a local expert.
- Go off-roading to explore the magnificent wildlife including caribou, Arctic fox and a vast array of birdlife.
- Learn more about the climate and environmental issues with special access to the Churchill Northern Studies Centre and discussions with resident scientists.

United States: New York, N.Y.

When you go to the theater, you probably don’t think about the hours, conversations and details that went into that production. On this six-day backstage journey, meet with the creators of New York theater, visit some Broadway hangouts, and learn about the inner workings that come together only when the curtain rises.

JOURNEY HIGHLIGHTS

- Participate in exclusive discussions and seminars with theater insiders like a director, producer, casting director, actor or dramaturge.
- Discuss the delicate balance of art and commerce that drives the theater industry.
- Experience stages of the theatrical process by attending a reading, workshop or invited dress rehearsal (subject to availability).

4 days, 3 nights
35 travelers

Departs December 8, 2019
Operated by Academic Travel Abroad
United States: Washington, D.C.

If there has been one consistency throughout the Trump administration, it has been its unpredictability. The run-up to the 2020 elections will be no exception. Attend a symposium moderated by Jackie Calmes, a former New York Times national correspondent, focused on the political landscape of the 2020 presidential election.

JOURNEY HIGHLIGHTS

- Gain special insight from opinion makers, scholars, advocacy leaders and media experts on the hot issues today and how they affect our current political system.
- Take a deep dive into understanding the 2018 midterms and their potential influence on the remaining years of the Trump administration.
- Continue discussions over informal evening cocktail receptions.

Jackie Calmes
White House Editor, Los Angeles Times
November 10

Jackie Calmes is a former national correspondent for The New York Times covering the 2014 midterm elections. She was most recently a White House correspondent. Previously she had been chief political correspondent for The Wall Street Journal.

From $7,995
9 days, 8 nights
24 travelers

Departs April 24 and November 28, 2019
Operated by Abercrombie & Kent
Ethiopia: Addis Ababa, Axum, Cave Churches of Lalibela, Gondar, Blue Nile Falls

Private departures available

Ethiopia, the oldest independent country in Africa, is among its most stable, at least since 1991. This nine-day journey, coinciding with a national religious festival, will showcase the unique cultural heritage of Ethiopia, home to one of the oldest Christian churches, the Queen of Sheba and, legend has it, the ark of the covenant.

JOURNEY HIGHLIGHTS

- Participate in a Christian festival, a joyous ceremony and once-in-a-lifetime experience.
- Attend an ancient coffee ceremony and learn of its importance to Ethiopia.
- Visit the National Archaeological Museum and see a replica of Lucy, one of the oldest hominids ever found.

Join The New York Times, known for its coverage of dinosaurs, on this specially designed, six-day adventure to western Colorado’s red rock country, for children 8 and older and their families. Dig in an active quarry, go behind the scenes in a paleontology laboratory, see how fossils are cleaned, identified and preserved. Marvel at the beauty and magnificence of a total solar eclipse. Join the New York Times science expert George Johnson on an eight-day journey to experience this once-in-a-lifetime total solar eclipse in the foothills of the Sierras in Argentina. Immerse yourself in the world of the cosmos by traveling to northern Chile’s Elqui Valley, home to many of the world’s best telescopes.

Nicholas St. Fleur, a former science reporter for The New York Times, has written about archaeology, paleontology and space and is a regular contributor to The Times’s science coverage. Terms and Conditions

The New York Times Company, a New York corporation acting through its Times Journeys Travel Group (“Times Journeys”; “We” or “Us”; “Our”), as authorized in its catalog and on its website (www.nytimes.com/times-journeys), and any licensed independent tour operator (each, “Operator”), to organize and administer the Tour. Times Journeys and the Operator are collectively referred to as “Operator & Times Journeys.”

Please read these Terms and Conditions of travel before making a deposit or payment for a Tour, as your booking and the program for a Tour (“the Itinerary”) are subject to the terms below. Please review these Terms and Conditions carefully before you deposit or pay for your reservation and we will accept and confirm your booking. Payment of any monies constitutes acceptance and understanding of the terms and conditions set forth in these Terms and Conditions. These Terms and Conditions may be supplemented by additional terms and conditions specific to your Tour (“Supplemental Terms”). In the event of a conflict between these Terms and Conditions and the Supplemental Terms, the Supplemental Terms will control.

Times Journeys acts only as the Tour sponsor and is not responsible for the acts or omissions of other parties.

Travel Purposes: Tours are intended for tourist travel only, and unless approved by Times Journeys in advance, are not open to individuals looking to conduct business during a Tour. We reserve the right to decline to do business with anyone on a reasonable basis.

Pricing and Inclusions: Quoted Tour prices are per person, double occupancy except where indicated. Prices include programming, planning, handling and operational charges and are based on current rates of exchange, tariffs and taxes in effect at the time of publication. We reserve the right to increase Tour prices to cover increased costs, tariffs, taxes and VAT incurred after prices are published and to reflect fluctuations in foreign exchange markets. We will not return any booking in the price of a Tour or its part. Refund of Tour content will not affect the published price.

Exclusions: Quoted Tour prices exclude trip insurance, airfares between points on the Tour; international airfares, including airfare and transportation to and from the Tour (unless otherwise noted); costs associated with obtaining passports or entry visas; any taxes or surcharges (except service charge) not included in your Tour price; gratuities, tips and personal expenses such as laundry, telephone calls, room service, bar, private钱财, food and beverages, tipping drivers and guides, and any expenses incurred on your own, unless otherwise indicated; the cost of getting to or from the departure date of the Tour; meal expenses in excess of those included in your Tour (“Internal Air”) or travel to or from the Tour, is your responsibility.

Exclusions for Domestic Tours: Itinerary may have a different age restriction than the overall minimum age requirement, and the minimum age to participate in the Tour may vary by segment or excursions. Times Journeys cannot be held responsible for any price increases or surcharges caused by forces of nature, illness or by willful or criminal conduct of third parties or by operators of transportation, accommodations, service agencies, or any agent or independent contractor hired by the operator.
